

Bryan's Action Splits Democrats; Will Lead Peace Party Against Wilson

Ambition.

COMMONER IN LIMELIGHT FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

Will Also Rally Anti-saloon Element in His Campaign for Nomination.

Politicians Admit Former Secretary has an Immense Following, Especially in the South, and Look for Him to be Active from Now on Irrespective of What Our Relations with Germany may Be.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 8.—Secretary of State Bryan's resignation from the Cabinet today has precipitated a crisis in the affairs of the Democratic party as well as the nation. Speculation is rife as to whether Mr. Bryan will become a candidate for President in opposition to President Wilson.

The recent premier of the Cabinet immediately became the head of the peace faction in the Democratic party. By his resignation he placed President Wilson at the head of the war faction.

Irrespective of what the immediate future may produce with regard to the relations between the United States and Germany, a tremendous struggle within the Democratic party for control of that organization is in progress. Bryan's campaign appears to be certain.

HIS PEACE PROGRAMME.

Mr. Bryan has placed his peace programme above all other considerations. Mr. Wilson has placed his policy to protect Americans above all other considerations, including Mr. Bryan's peace ideas.

In view of the war between the United States and Germany, it is not probable that Mr. Bryan will attempt to handicap the President by leading his peace party into the Presidential campaign, unless he believes that by doing so he can bring about the end of the war and its permanent international peace. But if war is not ended, the issue between Mr. Bryan and President Wilson is clearly drawn. The ex-Secretary of State undoubtedly will continue to make permanent international peace the paramount issue of the 1916 campaign. He will attempt to force the Democratic party to take its stand for war or at any rate that he has a tremendous following within the Democratic party is admitted. That following comes largely from the Democratic States of the Solid South, whose delegates to the next national convention will be decided in the Solid South, whose delegates to the next national convention will have the deciding voice in the selection of a candidate for the presidency.

AMBITIONS OF BRYAN.

That Bryan will soon proceed to make himself the Roosevelt of the Democratic party and that it will not be long before the Nebraskan is speaking with his usual oratorical powers since he came to the Cabinet, despite polite assurances from the ex-premier that he leaves the administration with good will. Incidentally Bryan will pursue the nimble dance on the Chancery platform with more vigor than ever, the lecture season is just beginning. Bryan plans to rally to his standard, declare the politicians, the pacifist people and anti-saloon advocates and with this backing will himself be a candidate for the Presidency against Wilson in 1916.

It is declared positively in Washington by those in a position to know that Mr. Bryan will stump the country and speak on behalf of his peace propaganda and do what he conceives to be his duty to prevent this country from becoming embroiled.

Qualified.

ACTING STATE SECRETARY HAS AMPLE EXPERIENCE.

Robert Lansing, Who has been Counselor Since John Bassett Moore Resigned, has for Many Years been Connected with Important Negotiations and is Known to be Thoroughly in Accord with Wilson's Policies.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 8.—Robert Lansing of New York, who will take up temporarily tomorrow the portfolio of the Department of State, has the distinction of having represented the United States in more international arbitration than any living American. More than that, he has had a longer and broader experience in international arbitration and has appeared more frequently before international tribunals than any living lawyer.

With his appointment in 1892 as legal counsel for the United States in the sea arbitration, he entered upon what has been practically a continuous international service. He attended the sessions of the International Tribunal in Paris in 1892, in 1894-5 he served as counsel for the Mexican and Chinese Commissions. In 1896 he was appointed by Richard Olney, then Secretary of State under President Cleveland, counsel for the government before the Bering Sea Claims Commission, the sessions of which were held at Victoria, Montreal, and Halifax in 1896-7. During these next two years he represented private parties before the Canadian Joint High Commission, and in 1896-91 again served as counselor for the Mexican and Chinese Commissions. In 1892 he was appointed solicitor and counsel for the government before the Alaskan boundary tribunal, a special council for private clients in the Venezuelan asphalt disputes in 1895, and was counsel for the United States in the Atlantic fisheries arbitration at The Hague in 1898. He was technical delegate of the government in the arbitration of the Alaska boundary in 1911 and special counsel for the Department of State on various diplomatic questions and for the negotiation with Great Britain of the claims to be arbitrated under the special agreement of 1910. In 1911 he was counselor for the United States in the American and British claims arbitration and served as agent of the United States before this commission from 1912 until his appointment as Counselor of the State Department in March 1914.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) June 8.—With the first reports of Secretary Bryan's resignation tonight the rumor gained ground in this, the home city of Philander Knox, that the premier in President Taft's Cabinet would be invited into the Cabinet of Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Knox is now in Washington, where he went shortly after the President sent his first message to Germany. He approved the President's course warmly. Since going

GOV. DUNNE REGRETS BREAK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) June 8.—Gov. Dunne tonight made the following statement regarding the resignation of Secretary of State Bryan:

"It is a matter of extreme regret that the two great men who have worked so hard and successfully along the same lines for many years have been compelled to differ at such a critical time in the affairs of the nation. That both of them are acting from the deepest conviction and from the highest of motives cannot be doubted. The name of the issue between them is not clearly disclosed in their letter. Until it is clearly understood comment would be premature."

LETTER OF RESIGNATION AND WILSON'S ACCEPTANCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Following is the text of Secretary of State Bryan's letter of resignation and the letter of acceptance of President Wilson:

SECRETARY BRYAN'S LETTER.

"My dear Mr. President: It is with sincere regret that I have reached the conclusion that I should return to you the commission of Secretary of State with which you honored me at the beginning of your administration.

"Obedient to your sense of duty and actuated by the highest motives you have prepared for transmission to the German government a note in which I cannot join without violating what I deem to be an obligation to my country; and the issue involved is of such moment that to remain a member of the Cabinet would be an unfair to you as it would be to the cause which is nearest my heart, namely, the prevention of war.

"I, therefore, respectfully tender my resignation to take effect when the note is sent, unless you prefer an earlier hour. Alike desirous of reaching peaceful solution of the problems arising out of the use of submarines against merchantmen, we find ourselves differing irreconcilably as to the methods which should be employed.

"It fails to your lot to speak officially for the nation; I consider it to be none the less my duty to endeavor as a private citizen to promote the end which you have in view by means which you do not feel at liberty to use.

"In severing the intimate and pleasant relations which have existed between us during the past two years, permit me to acknowledge the profound satisfaction which it has given me to be associated with you in the important work which has come before the State Department and to thank you for the courtesies shown.

"With the heartiest wishes for your welfare and for the success of your administration, I am, my dear Mr. President,

"Very truly yours,

[Signed]

W. J. BRYAN.

"Washington, June 8, 1915."

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

The President's letter to Mr. Bryan was as follows:

"My dear Mr. Bryan: I accept your resignation only because you insist upon its acceptance; and I accept it with much more than deep regret, with a feeling of personal sorrow. Our two years of close association have been very delightful to me. Our judgments have accorded in practically every matter of official duty and of public policy until now; your support of the work and purposes of the administration has been generous and loyal beyond praise, your devotion to the duties of your great office and your eagerness to take advantage of every great opportunity for service it offered has been an example to the rest of us; you have earned our affectionate admiration and friendship. Even now we are not separated in the object we seek, but only in the method by which we seek it.

"It is for these reasons my feelings about your retirement from the office of Secretary of State go much deeper than regret. I deplore it. Our objects are the same and we ought to pursue them together. I yield to your desire only because I must and wish to bid you Godspeed on the parting. We shall continue to work for the same causes even when we do not work in the same way.

"With affectionate regard,

"Sincerely yours,

WOODROW WILSON."

Comment.

DECLARE BRYAN IS CONSISTENT.

Newspapers Think He Could not Stay in Cabinet.

Some Approve Act, Others Call it a Mistake.

Believe Him Leader of Peace-at-any-price Party.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 8.—The following editorial comment on the resignation of Secretary of State Bryan has been assembled from a variety of sources:

WASHINGTON (D. C.) POST: Finding himself diametrically opposed to the President's views in the pending dispute with Germany, Mr. Bryan finds this an opportune time to take the step which he has long had in mind. The people will support the administration with good will. Incidentally Bryan will pursue the nimble dance on the Chancery platform with more vigor than ever, the lecture season is just beginning. Bryan plans to rally to his standard, declare the politicians, the pacifist people and anti-saloon advocates and with this backing will himself be a candidate for the Presidency against Wilson in 1916.

PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER: Mr. Bryan's resignation from the office of Secretary of State has given him like the leaving it. His letter to the President, offering his resignation, is an honest and manly statement of the reasons for his action. Bryan's action does not support a policy contrary to his convictions. Now that the policy of the administration has taken a course directly at variance with his principles as an advocate of peace at any price it would have stultified him in the eyes of the whole country had he stayed.

CHICAGO HERALD: Probably for the first time in his public career William Jennings Bryan will find the people of the United States in favor of something he has put forward—his resignation from the Cabinet.

Mr. Bryan as a private citizen will be a spokesman to the peace of the nation than he has been as Secretary of State. The nation and President Wilson are to be congratulated.

SEATTLE POST-INTELLIGENCER: William Jennings Bryan's retirement from the Cabinet, unimportant itself, is weighed with deepest import by the circumstances attending it. A statesman would have resigned before the issue was made. The episode must necessarily bear upon Germany as evidence of a divided country.

RICHMOND (Va.) TIMES: It is Wilson, not Bryan, who writes today to which the hearts of the American people respond and with which it beats in general sympathy. That nation is with him. At the presence of this speech to our happiness, our safety and our honor, even Mr. Bryan must share national aspiration, oppose reluctantly every further invasion of our rights or stand aside.

SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) REPUBLICAN: Bryan has stood by his convictions at the expense of his place in President Wilson's Cabinet, and the thinking people of the United States will respect him for it. He was consistent with himself. No less consistent was the President of the United States and no less thoughtful.

BALTIMORE AMERICAN: The country picks up Mr. Bryan as a deserter, yet this is the time to engage in criminalism. Still the secret will be strong against the Secretary of State who retires from the guns while the diplomatic issues are being fought out between Germany and the United States.

NEW YORK HERALD: The President goes on leaving Mr. Bryan behind. The very fact of Mr. Bryan's resignation is a blow to the administration. The whole story of the momentous and tragic dispute has been in progress in Washington since then. President has been tried in the last few days probably never will be known, but he has pursued his course with the consciousness that the entire American people was behind him. It is difficult to give Mr. Bryan the credit for his convictions. But his convictions are all wrong.

NEW YORK TIMES: Mr. Bryan has done well in resigning. It is, perhaps, the result of his political career. Differing irreconcilably in respect to the form and substance of the reply to Germany, he failed to get him to reconsider his resignation. The President again spoke his deep regret when Mr. Bryan declared he could not remain in the official family and other Cabinet members joined in the expressions of their chief.

RELAXES AT GOLF. Immediately after the Cabinet meeting the President went to the White House. For several days Mr. Wilson had been suffering from violent headache and Dr. Goss, his physician, insisted upon his making a round of the golf links this afternoon. It was while he was away from the White House that the definite reports that Mr. Bryan had resigned reached the Cabinet.

WILTON CAREWORN. Not wishing to be questioned about the situation, the President directed the Secretary of State to cancel his regular Tuesday conference with newspaper men this morning, but later he rescinded the order and saw them.

NEW YORK HERALD: Bryan's resignation, it is known, was discussed thoroughly at the Cabinet meeting and final efforts were made to get him to reconsider his resignation. The President again spoke his deep regret when Mr. Bryan declared he could not remain in the official family and other Cabinet members joined in the expressions of their chief.

NEW YORK WORLD: Mr. Bryan's resignation at this time and in these circumstances is a sorry service to his country. We cannot believe that this cause is nearer to Wilson's feelings than it is to Bryan's. Bryan's heart is in the cause of justice, but even if it were Mr. Bryan has done the one thing in his power most likely to bring about war between the United States and Germany. American sentiment, Mr. Bryan's past record, his personal qualities, his devotion to his ideals, his record in the Senate, his record in the House, his record in the Cabinet, all of these factors should be considered.

NEW YORK DAILY NEWS: Bryan's resignation is a blow to the administration. The whole story of the momentous and tragic dispute has been in progress in Washington since then. President has been tried in the last few days probably never will be known, but he has pursued his course with the consciousness that the entire American people was behind him. BERLIN, June 8.—The following of communication was issued by the Office tonight:

"The region of Notre Dame de Lorette has been a very spiritual engagement today. Our army has everywhere consolidated the positions previously gained in the first days of the war.
The whole matter is fraught with such possibilities of danger to this country that Army-Gen. Gregory and the experts of the Department of War have taken up the question with a view of interposing legal obstacles.
It may become necessary, it was suggested today, to prevent such a mile on the ground of public welfare because of strained relations with Germany."

Secretary McAdoo will not disclose who are the agents for the German interests seeking to purchase the munition plants, or who are the financial agents. The secret service men are believed to know the details of the investigation for three weeks. Rich Germans in the United States are believed to be behind it.

Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Company, came here two weeks ago to inspect the plants and negotiate with the German agents.
The enemy violently bombarded the village which we took from him to the north of the Aisne.

When this package was prepared,
it was not on top of the German interests, but the two partners were a few other pieces and, although Prof. McAdoo had been disturbed by the negotiations, he did not think he had been accompanied by a counter-attack."

Fine Help for Expectant Mothers

A valuable aid is an external remedy known and used successfully by women everywhere for a generation. It is called "Mother's Friend" and is sold in all drug stores.

It is applied externally. Bights about the 25th month. The muscles are made firm and pliant, and the child with a strong and thorough comfort is enjoyed. Don't fail to get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today. Held by druggists everywhere. Write for valuable booklet, "How to Breed Right," from the Birkel Regulator Co., 101 Lamar Ridge, Atlanta, Ga.

A MOTHER'S NERVES

When your children "get on your nerves," the trouble is with your nerves, not with the children.

You find yourself scolding them when you should be reasoning with them, and if you are wise you will realize that your nervous system needs attention.

You observe, doubtless, that you wake up in the morning unrefreshed by your night's sleep, that you often feel better at night than you do in the morning. You realize that you are getting irritable, things worry you that didn't formerly and you have headaches more frequently than you used to.

Let this condition go on uncorrected and you invite a nervous breakdown. The proper treatment is to take more rest, stop worrying and build up your blood and nerves with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You will find that you sleep better and are more refreshed by it, that your appetite and digestion improve, headaches are less frequent and that little things do not annoy you as they did. You can begin the treatment today for your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., will send free on request two helpful books, "Nervous Disorders, A Method of Home Treatment," and "What to Eat and How to Eat."

RECEIVER NAMED.

Atlantic Blaugas Company Thrown into Court on Petition of Eugene Bernheimer of Los Angeles.

(By A. P. DAY WIRE.) NEW YORK, June 8.—Federal Judge Hand today appointed Arthur S. Beves as receiver of the Atlantic Blaugas Company, an Illuminant concern, capitalized at $2,500,000. The receiver was appointed in an equity suit brought by Eugene Bernheimer of Los Angeles, Cal., a creditor to the amount of $15,000, and holder of 650 shares of the company's stock. He says the company admitted the indebtedness, but has failed to pay him. He also says there are other creditors with unsecured claims approximating $128,000.

STEAMERS COME BACK.

Three Norwegian Ships Unable to Land Their Cargoes Because of British Seizure Return to New York

(By A. P. DAY WIRE.) NEW YORK, June 8.—Three Norwegian steamers arrived in port today, which, on their last outward voyage from this country, were unsuccessful in landing their cargoes at their ports of destination, owing to the nations would be better off if the individual living in this padded and perfumed atmosphere would be happy and contented, more efficient and of more use to the community, longer-lived, stronger minded; that it would minimize murder

LIQUOR DEALERS DEFEND CALLING

Wholesalers in Convention Hear Temperance Talk.

Speaker Declares Business is Preventive of Crime.

Insists They are Supplying a Demand of Public.

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

CINCINNATI, June 8.—Opponents of prohibition and exponents of temperance held full sway at the opening sessions of the annual convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers here today.

"Let those men who call themselves Republicans and Democrats, and at the same time are endeavoring to foist prohibition upon the great parties," said Congressman Jacob M. Meeker of Missouri, "let them say why they have not been with the National Prohibition party for the last quarter of a century and let them now get into the prohibitionist party with all the political malcontents who are trying to ride into public favor on this single issue."

"In our deliberations for the coming year it will be well for the sincere people of the nation to be on the alert. We must be on our guard against that type of man who will secretly pledge himself in advance of his nomination and election to support 'dry' measure, or any other measure, simply that he may obtain the favor of some gang."

The delegates were welcomed by Mayor Frederick Spiegel, who delivered a short talk on temperance in which he declared his opposition to prohibition.

REMARKS BY WOOLNER.

The solution of what is commonly called the liquor question depends upon what we consider the problem to be," said Samuel Woolner, Jr., of Peoria, Ill., president of the association.

"The Prohibitionists," continued Mr. Woolner, "would have us believe that the abolition of the legitimate manufacture and sale of liquor would remove entirely the demand and stop drinking absolutely. That the nation would be better off if the individual living in this padded and perfumed atmosphere would be happy and contented, more efficient and of more use to the community, longer-lived, stronger minded; that it would minimize murder and crime of all sorts, remove the cause of poverty and ill-health and do away with almshouses, jails and insane asylums, and asylums for feeble-minded."

"The persons engaged in the liquor business contend they are simply supplying a want and a need. The demand is here otherwise there would be no supply. We contend that the people need attention, not the liquor. That God-given right to their products, that it relieves more misery than it causes; that it produces more joy than sorrow; that it adds to the efficiency, instead of taking away from it, that it is a tonic to the body, producing stronger and healthier minds which is a greater preventer of crime of all kinds and causes a lesser demand for institutions such as jails and hospitals for the insane, feeble-minded, etc., than would be required under prohibition or total abstinence."

THE WEATHER BACK EAST.

Cool Temperatures Prevail Over Most of Country Except Atlantic States, Where It's Warm.

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 8.—Unusually cool weather continues around the lakes region. Chicago's maximum was 68 deg., rising from 61 deg. last night, with a trace of rain. The Ohio Valley was one degree under Chicago's temperature. Eastern States, excepting Northern New York, are warm, but the Southwest continues about 15 deg. under seasonal normal. Yuma, Ariz., was 100 deg. yesterday. 11 deg. in Duluth, Minn., was the coldest place in the United States with 44 deg.

WOMEN SCORE MILITANCY.

DISAPPROVE FORCED ATTEMPT TO INTERVIEW WILSON.

Peace Resolution is Adopted and Miss Alice Stone Blackwell of Boston Informs Convention that the Cause is Making Great Progress in the South.

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

NEW YORK, June 8.—The right of claimants in suits based on the sinking of the White Star liner Titanic to withdraw the limitation of liability proceedings brought by the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, Ltd., for the purpose of bringing suits against the White Star line in English courts was upheld in a decision rendered here today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The trial of the limitation of liability proceedings is to take place June 22. The Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, Ltd., by asking for a limitation of liability under the general maritime law, was seeking damages aggregating $18,000,000 with $67,000, the Titanic freight, passage and salvage money on the fatal voyage.

PROGRESSIVE DEATH KID.

McCormick Admits
Now Ready for Game.

Authorities Think it has its Legal Existence.

Other States may Follow
Example of Illinois.

BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 8.—The last of the "Progressive" party was torn to pieces. Medill McCormick today sounded the alarm he believed to be the death knell. Moose when he disclosed that he had planned to grant to women the right to vote for Congressmen.

Miss Alice Stone Blackwell of Boston, addressing the conference, said the association suffers from the millenarianism of the Congressional Union for the reason that politicians do not distinguish between one association and another, but visit their resentment on the progressive movement generally.

"We are making great progress in the South," Miss Blackwell said, "and we will make it faster when it is understood that the Bristow-Mondell amendment does not enfranchise women indiscriminately but only in the same way that men are enfranchised."

Miss Blackwell charged that the peace resolution was adopted, and the delegates voted to support the Federal bill designed to grant to women the right to vote for Congressmen.

Representative McCormick not only mishandled the progressives with other wealthy Illinoisans, but also a great deal of our money went to the Middle West for Roosevelt.

McCormick failed to identify them. Another suspect who told the police he was Louis F. O'Brien of Meridian, Miss., was fined $50 on vagrancy charges. The police say O'Brien had in his possession fake poolroom paraphernalia.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Sunday-school Graded Union.

The Graded Union of Sunday-school Teachers will convene at 9:45 o'clock this morning at Temple Auditorium, and those interested are invited. The meeting will be addressed by Rev. George A. Franklin, who came here to attend the Northern Baptist Convention.

City Club Tree Planting.

The regular weekly luncheon of the City Club of Los Angeles to be held Saturday at Griffith Park will mark the third annual tree planting of that organization. A feature of the occasion will be addresses by R. N. Bulla, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Meyer Lissner.

Open to Service Again.

With trains leaving here late last night, the Southern Pacific and the Frisco will run through to San Francisco by way of the San Joaquin Valley. Beginning today, both railroads will offer normal service to valley points. This breaks one of the longest blockades to which the valley has ever been subject.

For Poor Blind Woman.

The Times received a $5 check yesterday from Helen H. Horsfall of Venice for Miss Jennie Olsen, a blind former teacher, whose pitiful plight was told in the Times' "Vanderbilt" column on Monday. The check has been forwarded to Miss Olsen. "I hope and pray that she will regain her sight," the donor writes.

Genesee Society Meeting.

The Genesee (III.) Society of Los Angeles will hold an informal meeting at the Roslyn Hotel next Tuesday. The guests will meet on the mezzanine floor at 11:30 for luncheon at 12 o'clock. Members desiring admission to the meeting and the society's tables have been requested to notify the president of the society at No. 322 South Fremont avenue. This meeting was erroneously announced for yesterday.

More Fast Trains.

Because of increasing travel, General Passenger Agent Horsfall of the Southern Pacific announced yesterday that the old Shore Line Limited train will be restored to service between the city and San Francisco on the 15th inst., and that additional through trains will be put on between San Francisco and Portland and between the bay city and St. Louis. The Shore Line Limited trains will leave their respective terminals at 4 a.m. daily and arrive at destination at 9:50 p.m.

Hours of Services Changed.

There has been a change in the plan of the Bible Institute, covering the hour of the daily addresses by Dr. William Evans, as well as in the topics previously announced. Dr. Evans will speak each forenoon at 11 o'clock and each evening at 7:30. His morning topics for the remaining days of this week will be "The Book of Revelations" and those of the evening, "The Book of Romans." Dr. Evans is said to be a man of unusual learning and of phenomenal eloquence. All seats are free in the great building, and the public is invited to take advantage of the opportunity to hear this noted and brilliant man presented by the Bible Institute.

THEY WILL NEVER FORGET IT.

Delegates to Pan-American Financial Congress are Taken Through the Chicago Stock Yards.

18 A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

CHICAGO, June 8.—From the Board of Trade and the wheat pit to the stock yards and packing-town, Chicago extended itself today to show the delegates to the recent Pan-American financial conference, how vast it is, how busy, and what goes to make it of first importance in the commerce and finance of the world.

From packing-town some of the visitors were taken on an inspection trip through several of Chicago's big plants. They were guests at a formal dinner tonight, leaving for Detroit.

MISS TURNBULL WEDS.

Defeated Claimant for Luck Baldwin's Millions Becomes Bride of Baron Andrew de Patterson (BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH).

BOSTON, June 8.—Beatrice Anita Baldwin-Turnbull, defeated claimant to the millions of the late E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin, California horseman, today became the Baroness de Patterson, when in the parlor of Assistant City Clerk Charles E. Solloway at Roxbury, she was married to Baron Andrew Vincent de Patterson of Cleveland, New York, Portugal and other parts of the world.

The regular weekly luncheon of the City Club of Los Angeles to be held Saturday at Griffith Park will mark the third annual tree planting of that organization. A feature of the occasion will be addresses by R. N. Bulla, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Meyer Lissner.

For Poor Blind Woman.

The Times received a $5 check yesterday from Helen H. Horsfall of Venice for Miss Jennie Olsen, a blind former teacher, whose pitiful plight was told in the Times' "Vanderbilt" column on Monday. The check has been forwarded to Miss Olsen. "I hope and pray that she will regain her sight," the donor writes.

Genesee Society Meeting.

The Genesee (III.) Society of Los Angeles will hold an informal meeting at the Roslyn Hotel next Tuesday. The guests will meet on the mezzanine floor at 11:30 for luncheon at 12 o'clock. Members desiring admission to the meeting and the society's tables have been requested to notify the president of the society at No. 322 South Fremont avenue. This meeting was erroneously announced for yesterday.

More Fast Trains.

Because of increasing travel, General Passenger Agent Horsfall of the Southern Pacific announced yesterday that the old Shore Line Limited train will be restored to service between the city and San Francisco on the 15th inst., and that additional through trains will be put on between San Francisco and Portland and between the bay city and St. Louis. The Shore Line Limited trains will leave their respective terminals at 4 a.m. daily and arrive at destination at 9:50 p.m.

Hours of Services Changed.

There has been a change in the plan of the Bible Institute, covering the hour of the daily addresses by Dr. William Evans, as well as in the topics previously announced. Dr. Evans will speak each forenoon at 11 o'clock and each evening at 7:30. His morning topics for the remaining days of this week will be "The Book of Revelations" and those of the evening, "The Book of Romans." Dr. Evans is said to be a man of unusual learning and of phenomenal eloquence. All seats are free in the great building, and the public is invited to take advantage of the opportunity to hear this noted and brilliant man presented by the Bible Institute.

BATTALION OF BEST BABIES.

Our Most Remarkable Parade to be Held Tomorrow.

One Hundred Entries; All of 'Em Under Five Years.

School Exposition on Normal Hill to Follow It.

If you are under 5 years of age, you are eligible to take part tomorrow in the baby parade that is to wend its way through the business district as preface to the Juvenile Exposition at Normal Hill Center, under the auspices of the Board of Education and Women's Million Club.

Modeled on the lines of the parade which Atlantic City annually opens its summer season of sea-shore delights, the members of the Women's Million Club promises to go all out to make better in their showing of pretty tots in decorated perambulators, with fond mothers furnishing the motive power.

The parade, with its 100 or more entries, will come at the Courthouse at 10 o'clock and proceed south on Broadway to Second Street, then north on that street to Central Park, where it will disband. Platoons from military schools will act as escort, while music will be furnished by school bands.

The Juvenile Exposition is the first of its kind ever attempted in this country and will be open throughout the summer vacation. Some beautiful dancing sets will be shown on the opening and other days, with school children the principal feature. There will be the display of all nations, more than 500 school children participating in the series. These children have been drilled by Ruth St. Denis.

THE EXPOSITION.

The exhibit of children's work is expected to be an attraction for the old-fashioned people who are out of touch with modern methods of education. Any who think that it will consist of Mary reciting "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight" or Johnny doing a sum in algebra on a blackboard are denied to themselves.

Instead they will see Mary trimming her fall hat or making cake for the lunches that will be served to visitors, while they are apt to see son John dress up to the exhibit building on an afternoon he has been to school and help himself a steaming lunch made by students of the harbor high school.

Everything from the paper elephants cut out by the tiniest kindergarten to heavy machinery will be shown. Even the Normal School building in which the exposition will be held will furnish tangible evidence of the varied crafts being taught the public school pupils. The curtains, curtains, pictures and paneling and decorative features will be done by students.

Nineteen departments of school work will be shown representing 100,000 children in 150 schools. The departmental work will range from kindergarten to junior college students. The practical working out of each department will be demonstrated just as it is done in the school class rooms, workshops, gardens, gymnasiums and allied institutions.

One of the moral restrictions designed to protect school children from exploitation the exposition is being arranged purely from an educational standpoint.

The county of Los Angeles, in the general entertainment budget for 1915 of nearly $50,000, made provision for the unique display of children's work.

The exposition is expected to demonstrate that educational work of today is largely devoted to helping the child to "find itself." The difference in temperament, mentality, inclination and variation from normality is being given the closest study by advanced educators. For instance, a special school for truants is among the recent innovations that will be shown.

It has been found that the habitual truant can be handled effectively under different treatment than accorded the normal child.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD SCHOOL.

One of the exhibits that will bring out the relationship between the child's education and home will be that of the neighborhood school, the only one of its kind in the United States, the operation of which is being watched with interest by education boards.

Los Angeles is the pioneer in this field. The teachers in this branch of public education go to the homes of the children. Practical demonstrations of domestic scenes are given to tired mothers who, in some instances, know as little of the proper food and ways to prepare it as they do of the English children they are learning to speak so fluently. The parents are brought in to teach the children to wash and wash the child. A school teacher with an apron on in the home of her pupils as instructor to their parents is a usual sight today.

Former California Officer Arrested
Here is Exonerated—Accuses Policeman of Assault.

Capt. Manuel G. Brassell, formerly an officer in the Carranza army in Mexico, was taken into Police Court yesterday to explain aggressive conduct in a cafe at No. 127 South Main street, where he was arrested by Policeman Frost last Monday night. While the arrest was being made, Capt. Brassell, who is the son of a wealthy San Joaquin, Calif., man, received blows that drew blood and his face bore scars of the strife when he appeared before the police judge.

Policeman Frost did not appear to prosecute the case, and the charges were dismissed at once. Capt. Brassell, however, refused to let Acting Chief Home and complained he had been beaten by the policeman. The captain admitted he was under the influence of liquor at the time and made some resistance to the demands of the policeman. The charges have been dismissed. Policeman Frost with Acting Chief Home, but action may follow in the civil courts.

SUIT ON COMMISSION.

Judge Trippet is hearing the evidence in the action brought by W. T. Wilson against The Liquid Carbonic Company, involving a claim of $10,751.12, the defense counter-claim for $10,751.12, alleged to be due on account of commission claimed to have been earned by Wilson while in the employ of the company, by virtue of a contract entered into in August, 1911. The defendants enter a general denial.

CONTEST RUSHING AT THE HARBOR.

ALSO POUR IN FROM REDONDO BEACH; JUNE BRIDES BUSY.

The Harbor City is coming rapidly to the front in the Prosperity and Trade Contest of late. If the contestants in some of the other Number Four districts were half as wide-awake as the contestants in San Pedro, the other three districts would not have a chance to win the capital prize.

It is simply amazing the bundles of goods that come from the various Hardwick Company, J. S. Weller, groceries, and the Johnston Dry Goods Company. Every day in the week they come pouring in—by mail or on foot—until we wonder where all the money the credit represents comes from.

Redondo Beach also is taking up and J. S. Weller & Co. is selling more groceries all the time. George S. Funk & Son dispense hardware, paints and electrical supplies. P. C. Ridgley Dry Goods Company keeps the counter well supplied with "ready to wear" garments and shoes. C. P. Brady, druggist, keeps them in health from the "Rexal Store" and S. P. Clem supplies them with postal cards, curios and gems of all kinds.

The New Method Laundry must be washing all the clothes in the State, judging from the number of receipts brought in to the contest office.

Barker Bros. are evidently doing a big business in the home for June brides. We had three hundred bachelors for such outfitts come in last week.

One little bride-to-be brought in her bill of lading, and asked that it be placed to the credit of one of the contestants at the same time, in preparation to secure security. We had to "cross our hearts and hope to die" that we would not publish her name or tell the source of the very substantial addition to the lucky contestants.

The little lady explained she was also going to buy a piano from the Fitzgerald Music Company for "they were going to have our" bungalow all ready to move into right after the wedding. She said, "We are so happy that we have no money to spend, we would make our friend happy by buying our things where the bills would help add to their credits."

And so it goes all the time at the contest office. Everyone is getting interested at the same time and the contestants come into the contest office and ask to see the list, pick out a "low one" and ask to have their contribution placed to his or her credit.

So Much Per.

CENTURY NOTE FOR A LETTER.

PRIZE WINNERS IN CONTEST ARE ANNOUNCED.

Judges Make Report of Findings,
Giving Premier Award to Pas-dena Man, with Next Three to Women—Hundreds Others in the Money—Contest of Epistles.

After weeks of labor on the part of the judges in the 1915 General Committee letter writing contest, the list of prize winners was announced yesterday. Although the time limit was March 15, time had to be allowed for the return of the receipt card that was sent with each epistle, some of which went to the furthest corners of the earth.

William Dunkerley, No. 202 Michigan avenue, Pasadena, is awarded the first prize of $100. The second, third and fourth prizes of $75, $50 and $25, respectively, all were won by members of the gentler sex. There are fifty prizes of $5 each.

In making their decisions the judges took into consideration three main points: First, the interest inspired by the letter; second, the impression of credibility; third, the covering of the field as outlined.

The winners of the prizes will receive demands on the part of their respective winners, which will be paid by the County Treasurer.

This is the letter that won the first prize:

Mr. Tom Grant, Secretary Washington Chamber of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

Dear Tom: Two great expositions will make this an historic year on the Pacific Coast. The one at San Francisco will unquestionably surpass anything ever attempted in the history of an opportunity to see San Francisco rebuilt, rehabilitated and alive. At San Diego the "Exposition Beautiful," possessing a grandeur supreme, will be materially different. Neither will be equal to the attraction of the other and I would feel guilty indeed if not improving upon you the importance of seeing both.

Surely two such events are indomitable enough, but with Los Angeles as the "main gateway," my argument that you arrange to come out this year is

Family Injured as Car Smashes Automobile.

Tragedy.
MILTON HERSHEY was to have learned to swim yesterday for it was his fourteenth birthday, and his father, M. A. Hershey, a San Fernando ranchman, had told him that when he reached that mature age he could go into the water alone. So he bought himself a new bathing suit, and little air-filled wings to discourage sinking, but they are wrapped in a little package under his pillow in a cot in the Crocker Street Hospital, where he is clinging with frail grasp to life. The machine in which he, his father and mother were driving to the beach was struck by a Long Beach train at Fleming station, and demolished, all were injured, but the boy has a fracture of the skull, six crushed ribs and internal injuries.

His mother and father are in adjoining rooms, unable to see him, but where he is, they are at his side, crying for all day he is sporting in the dream surf, splashing in the visionary breakers, and floating in the imaginary tide.

With their lush babies and their bathing clothes the family started early from the San Fernando ranch and were hurrying at a brisk clip toward Long Beach when the road crossed the car tracks at Fleming station. Mr. Hershey at the wheel misjudged the speed of the fleeting electric train in the distance, thinking he could cross without peril.

As the little motor car hastened up to the crossing, Mr. Hershey realized the error of his judgment and attempted to stop the car, but driving along the tracks to avert the collision. It was too late.

The machine was lifted into the air and tossed away, twisted, torn and jammed. The Hershey family was scattered, the man and his wife were crushed, the boy was pinned under the machine and scattered the crushed debris.

Off to one side was Milton, lying still, with a terrible welt growing beneath his left eye and his head crushed in the rear. He was unconscious, his hands grubbing in the crushed ribs pressing on the lungs.

The family was taken to the Crocker Street Hospital by the train crew and after his wounds had been dressed, Milton found voice in his little hands.

He was laughing in an excited manner.

"Oh, papa," he shouted, "wasn't that a big one? It hit me hard, papa, awfully hard, and it hurt me, too," and his little hands faltered to his chest.

And all day he frolicked in the waves, and often he complained that he hurt everywhere and that he hurt his breast, and the close of his fourteenth birthday found him sinking slowly into a condition from which the surgeons fear there is no recovery.

whose husband is a Judge in the courts at Bombay, and Mrs. M. M. Merton, whose estate is Newcourt, Tewham, Devonshire, just a short distance from London.

GILA BEND RAILROAD.

Bids to be Opened Today for the Construction of New Railroad Line to Copper Workings.

Bids will be opened at Gila Bend today for the construction of a line from that place to Ajo, forty-one miles, to afford railroad connections for large copper workings in Southwestern Arizona. The road will be built by interests affiliated with the El Paso and Southwestern, and an estimated cost of $1,000,000. The work will be done under the name of the Tucson, Cornelia and Gila Bend Railroad.

An interesting feature of the proposed improvement is that it will connect the Paseo and the Rock Island, within striking distance of Yuma, where, it is rumored, it is proposed to affect connection with the San Diego and Arizona. The latter road is now being built into the Imperial Valley from San Diego.

LOTTERY MEN ARRAIGNED.

All Except Sullivan will Plead Not Monday Evening—He is up the Next Day.

The alleged members of the lottery trust—Larry M. Sullivan, W. E. Lower, John P. Buckley, W. H. Petrie and W. A. Daniels, William L. Petrie and Earl Daniels, charged with violation of the anti-lottery law, and using the mails in a conspiracy to sell tickets of the Hermosillo, Louisiana and Guadalupe lotteries with other contestants in San Francisco, were arraigned before Judge Bledsoe last evening.

All of the defendants waived the reading of the indictment against them, and next Monday evening at 5 o'clock was set as the date for the trial to be completed. Sullivan, who will be asked to plead at the same hour Tuesday evening, on account of the absence of his attorney, Fred Moore, in San Francisco on Monday.

YOUTH'S ACQUITTED.

Larry Gintner and Julius A. Rindkopp, two young Germans living at Delano, Kern county, charged with borrowing $15 from Mrs. S. J. Farnum of the Wadsworth apartment-house at 11th and Main streets on the pretense that they were Federal officers charged with prosecuting violations of the Mann White Slave Act, were acquitted by a jury in Judge Trippet's court yesterday.

In England Mrs. Prudeaux has joined her sisters, Mrs. J. C. Kendall, Trippet's court yesterday.

GERMAN IMPORTS ARE INCREASING.

JOINT FOR POPULAR FALLACY OF THE WAR: ACTIVITIES OF THE NATION.

In spite of the fact that Germany is supposed to be shut off from the world, commercially speaking, the May report of business transacted by the local Collector of Customs shows increased German imports for the past month as compared with May, 1914. The total value of German imports closed in $9455, while during the same month last year, the imports amounted to $8895. The arrivals include porcelain, hops, earthenware, pencils, rose plants, etc., all coming in Dutch steamers from Rotterdam.

The imports from Mexico, as compared with May, 1914, show an increase from $56,080 to $118,571; France drops from $9472 to $413; Italy from $29,000 to $20,000; while England has increased from $12,127 to $24,404; and Japan has dropped from $61,325 to $7810.

The imports for the month just passed were valued at $211,225; collections, $43,160. The heaviest exports were to Mexico, with $123,441; England, $56,170; Canada, $39,320, and Japan, $21,760.

Los Angeles leads in the matter of collections with $24,361.54; Calexico, $275,827; collections, $43,160. The heaviest exports were to San Diego, $64,932; and Tijuana, $64,932.

Imports from Mexico leads all with $176,532; Calexico, second, with $114,148; and Tijuana, fourth, with $51,124.

Imports from England are second highest with $12,127; Calexico, third, with $11,232; and San Diego, fourth, with $7,188.

JULY FOURTH CELEBRATION.

WILL BE HEED IN EXPOSITION PARK ON THE FIFTH.

Committees Necessary to Carry Out Plans for a Big Time that Day are Named—Many Interesting Events to be Scheduled on the Programme.

Exposition Park was selected yesterday as the place for the Fourth of July celebration, and it will begin at 2 p.m. Monday, July 5, that being the legal holiday this year.

This action, with the appointment of committees to arrange details of the programme, was taken at the first meeting of the general committee in the Mayor's office yesterday. Tentative plans discussed include an exhibition drill by Battery A, Field Artillery; a flag-raising and sports and contests for young and old.

Joseph D. Radford was elected chairman of the committee and C. B. Raitt temporary secretary.

The following committees were named:

Finance—Frank Wiggins, F. W. Blanchard, R. M. Bowen, Joseph D. Radford.

Athletic Committee—C. B. Hatt, H. M. H. D. Cross, Councilman E. F. Betzko.

Music Committee—F. W. Blanchard, E. E. Luther, A. E. McCallister, Daylight Fireworks Committee—W. J. Delaney, A. J. Eley, Marion Gray.

Invitation Committee—A. J. Cope, E. R. Ferry, F. B. Silverwood, Publicity Committee—M. H. Flint, J. R. Lippincott, Frank Wiggins, G. W. Dempster.

Speakers Committee—Gen. Robert Wankowski, Jessie Burks, R. W. Pricham.

Art Committee—B. H. Dyes, W. J. Quinn, Frank Shearer.

The committee will meet again next Monday in the Mayor's office.

The Fourth has been selected as a most appropriate day for celebrating the citizenship of new voters, including the both of young men and young women. Under the auspices of the Civic League exercises will be held in at least four of the high school buildings, more to be used if necessary in the new departure warts.

A committee consisting of Dr. E. P. Ryland, Mrs. Emma L. Reed and C. J. McCormick is working on a programme for the various exercises. Local committees are to be named, and all details of the affair will be prepared.

The co-operation of all patriotic citizens is being solicited by the committee. An appeal also is made to patriotic organizations, churches, young people's societies, and the organizations of the Civic League to participate. It is to be Americanization Day when the Declaration of Independence is to be translated into a new declaration of citizenship.

Anticipating the demand of the present wedding season we have selected wedding silver from the finest stocks in America.

Never in the history of the House of Nordlinger has this establishment shown so many beautiful subjects—ranging from a colonial paneled candlestick at $5 to a magnificent silver statue at $6000.

Due to the financial strength and consequent purchasing power of this house—we are enabled to exhibit many beautiful things exclusively in this city.

The graduates did not receive their diplomas last night, as all the colleges of the university will hold their final commencement exercises in the Shrine Auditorium tomorrow morning.

Those taking part in the recital were Violet Cossack, Jane Stanley, Guelph McQuain, Lucy Seaton, Margaret White, Catherine Lennox, Blanche Fowler and Wesley Kuhnle.

UNDELIVERED TELEGRAMS.

There are telegrams at the Western Union for Dorcas Almanos, Mrs. J. C. Brickell, J. C. Dent, A. C. Hoffman, F. C. Hudson, Dr. and Mrs. Mann, Lewis and Marie Mann, W. J. Midler, Joe Palmer, Antonio Pinachio, R. L. Robinson, L. E. Wallace and Mrs. L. R. Willis. At the Post: R. C. Thomas, J. S. Baer, Frank Sale, Jacques Brotin, S. Cohen Company, Bertrand McCor, Thomas J. Holmes, Nick and Lida Russell, Edward Stimpson, W. A. Dewitt, and (cable) Maung Hia Moung.

You Going? PREPARE FOR CONVENTION.

AD MEN WANT FORTY DELEGATES TO GO TO CHICAGO.

Sessions There this Month Styled as Biggest Business Meeting Ever Held—Los Angeles to Have Float. Will Distribute Oranges—Other Plans.

Forty delegates for Chicago is the aim of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles after hearing discussed the advantages of attending the eleventh annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World during its luncheon at the Hotel Clark.

In fifteen minutes at the close of the meeting 1874 was contributed to toward the convention fund by the ad men.

It is alleged that he had a form letter sent to persons in Los Angeles, calling on them to obtain granted patents, informing them that he was on the lookout for something to be thrown to the crowd.

In addition to Mr. Barbour, other members told of the value of national conventions of this magnitude, among them A. Carman Smith, John Renfrew, H. S. Carroll and Jack Wilson.

Tobacco Hearing Ends.

The hearing of the protest of B. S. Jarrett, a local cigar manufacturer, against the action of Collector Elliott, in classifying forty-one boxes of Cuban tobacco as pure and percentage, was adjourned until the 26th inst.

William McK. Barbour, chairman of the day, stated he had the positive assurance of the officials at Chicago that at least 10,000 persons will attend the convention, which is open to the public.

So far as Los Angeles is concerned, it is concerned, it was pointed out, the big event of the convention will be the grand pageant and the parade to be held on July 15 to 26.

Judge Trippet's court will enjoy the logical time to replenish the home's supply, or buy practical wedding gifts of linens and bedding.

SIX WEEKS VACATION.

Judge Trippet's court will enjoy six weeks vacation this summer, from July 15 to September 15.

It is expected that Judge Bledsoe would have the same time, but the trial of the defendants in the Los Angeles Investment Company case has been adjourned.

INVENTORS WERE HIS VICTIMS.

Young man accused by the Postal Department of swindling.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.
(At Home:) The greatest crop of wheat the country has ever seen is predicted for this season. The securities of the railroads that will haul this crop to market are steadily advancing. An increased interest is shown by speculators in the so-called "war stocks," the bonds of concerns making munitions being greatly enhanced. Copper is now selling at nearly 20 cents, the highest in recent years, with the demand on the increase. A gigantic deal involving the lease of a great shipbuilding concern whose plant is wanted for making war munitions is reported as being under way in the East. (For details see financial pages.)

ILLNESS OF A VETERAN.
Many Los Angeles people will learn with regret that Col. A. J. Biehler, the veteran editor of the Seattle Times, is seriously ill at his home city. Col. Biehler is one of the stalwarts of the Northwest.

HELD TO ACCOUNT.
Judge Willis yesterday sentenced a convicted automobile thief ten years in San Quentin. A few examples of this kind will tend to lessen a gigantic nuisance from which no auto owner is immune.

NOT LIKELY.
The organization of Whiffen supporters to secure a recount of the votes cast in the recent election presumably does not include the unpaid workmen at the polls employed for the day by H. E. Prettyman.

TRADES FOR NEGROES.
One hears much discussion of the race problem with regard to the negroes of America. We imagine that the first really sincere effort in behalf of the colored people would be to make it possible in every section of the country for the members of that race to learn and follow their choice of the different trades. The brain develops with the use of the hand. Better wages and better opportunities belong to skill in labor. This is the broad highway of all human progress.

RESENTS NEW COMMANDMENTS.
A. We see that an Oakland husband has secured a divorce because his wife made a list of rules which he had to obey if he lived at home. He was not merely required to wipe his feet on rainy days before he appeared on the parlor carpet, but he was not allowed to visit his relatives and let them visit him, and was denied the diversion of playing cards at home. It happens that a home and a husband are both institutions that operate best on the fewest possible regulations.

NATION OF NATIONS.
A. At the Pan-American conference May 29 in Blaenau of Philadelphia suggested that there should be "a declaration of interdependence by thirteen or more nations of the Western Hemisphere which would assure safety on the seas to commerce and which should protect its ships with an international flag, the symbol of a new nation of nations."

Why limit the participants in the league to thirteen? There are twenty-one of us, big and little, and all except Paraguay have an ocean frontage and are therefore "maritime" nations, whether they have any ships or not.

THE PITIFUL DEAD.
Hints of many murders in an opium den led to a large number of arrests in Los Angeles Saturday. On the same day a number of witnesses were summoned to appear in the opium-ring investigation now in progress at San Francisco. Some evasion of the strict narcotic law, prohibiting narcotics in this State is to be expected in view of many who, through one circumstance or another, have become addicted to their use and probably dependent upon them. As for murders and other deaths possibly traceable to this source, it is to be remembered, without apology for the use of opiates or for violence, that in the vast ant hill of humanity the resisting power of all individuals is by no means the same. One crumples in a heap of broken clay at some slight shock, while another weathers storm upon storm. Often death, even by violence, is only a falling away of the non-resisting. It is like having the dead bury their dead when those in whom principle has perished prey upon the poor fragments of one another.

P. L.
How would you like it if every time you signed your name you were obliged to add to it the initials J.P.F.S.A.A.F.C.A.? Well that is what Hugh Brown Brandon of Belfast, Ireland, is to do. He has just been elected vice-president of the Society of Incorporated Accountants and Auditors and he has always been a Fellow—and, being an Irishman, is undoubtedly a good fellow of that society. That will account for the P.F.A.A., but what does the J.P. stand for? Does it mean Justice of the Peace or Justice Pluvius, the god of rain? It is not possible that F.C.A. stands for "Foolish Concocted Ass." If his wife's name is America, it may mean "Fondly Cherishes America."

Initials are not always idle appendages. A thrifty traveler entering his name on the hotel register wrote John Brown, F.L.B. "What do those letters stand for?" inquired the hotel clerk. "Patent leather boots," was the reply. "That is to prevent you from charging in the bill for shoe polishing."

THE BREAKING AWAY OF BRYAN.
Mr. Bryan has turned over a new leaf and broken out of the administration's corral. There have been many rumors of his threatened resignation since the United States became embroiled in trouble with Mexico and European powers, and now they have materialized. No loud expressions of grief are heard in any quarter. The Secretary's resignation seems to have been accepted by the President with considerable promptitude; and the country, so far as heard from, is resigned to it.

President Wilson is to be congratulated upon this breach in his Cabinet. Secretary Bryan was the weakest point in his line and now he can strengthen it. The inefficiency and ineptness of the Secretary of State has been a reproach to the country and no doubt a source of mortification to the President. As for the divergence of opinions between the President and the Secretary concerning the notes to Germany the temper of the people of the United States is with the President. Mr. Bryan will not go down under a wave of sympathy.

Mr. Bryan never was fitted for the office of Secretary of State. He was not cast in that mold; his Creator had something else in view for him. And his training in public affairs has been along lines not leading to the post into which he was thrust by the exigencies of politics. He is probably the most effective platform orator of his day; he is an excellent sermonizer and would have made a popular preacher; he is an aggressive and wily politician and knows how to catch the favoring breeze; he is always a special pleader and is not equipped with the mentality or temperament to consider public questions in a broad and statesmanlike way. When it came to dealing with the diplomats of foreign nations in the conduct of affairs requiring special knowledge and masterful adroitness Mr. Bryan was a mere dabbler, and the President had to take the business in his own hands.

The Times, while attacking President Wilson's economic theories and vehemently opposing his doctrinaire tariff policies and denouncing his ruinous interference with business, has commended his guidance of the ship of state in the stress of weather prevailing since the great war began. The President has conducted our foreign relations with a sure, steady and skillful hand; it is fortunate that the United States has had in the Chief Executive's chair a man of his brains and heart and conscience. It has been even more fortunate for the country that the President has had the nerve and the disposition to treat his Secretary of State as a cipher and to rescue our foreign policies from his incompetent direction.

It is said that Bryan will now devote himself to the grape-juice brand of politics. If so, Othello's occupation has not gone, but has come. He has hit upon the job for which he is exactly suited. He is likely to become a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination against Mr. Wilson, it is said—and no friend of prosperity will worry about that. On the contrary the industrious, earnest, hard-headed people of the United States are disposed to treat his Secretary of State as a cipher and to rescue our foreign policies from his incompetent direction.

WHAT IS INTERNATIONAL LAW?
Two and one-half centuries ago Grotius composed and speculated upon the maxims of Roman jurisprudence and baptized the product of his brain by the sounding of "international law." Puffendorf speculated upon Grotius, and a hundred years later Vattel speculated upon both Wharton and Hall and others added their speculations to those of the previous writers and The Hague tribunal and the London conference completed the compilation.

What power is given authority to enforce the law of nations? When has international law ever been a rule of action with the power that quoted it when it operated against the interests of those powers? How long did "De Jure Belli et Pacis" the great work of Grotius, keep the hungry grasp of the unholy alliance from the dead body of Poland? How long did the theories of Vattel prevent the British East India Company from overrunning Hindustan? Was it the pangs of Puffendorf or the inaugural address of Jefferson Davis, the law of nations or the interests of Liverpool shipowners that were most attentively consulted when Napoleon shipped his land pirates to Mexico, and England sent the Shannon dash forth to light the Arctic Ocean with our burning whalers? What section of the law of nations authorizes Great Britain to seize the ships of neutral nations that are engaged in transporting food to German noncombatants? In what part of the international code does Germany find warrant for sinking unarmed ships loaded with the people of Great Britain will be better understood and appreciated.

IF THE DEBTS OF FRANCE, RUSSIA, GERMANY AND AUSTRIA SHALL BE, AS IS MOST PROBABLE, INCREASED IN SIMILAR PROPORTIONS THE DEBTS OF THE FIVE COMBATANTS WILL REACH THE STUPENDOUS SUM OF $72,000,000,000. FRANCE WILL OWE $19,000,000,000, RUSSIA $14,000,000,000, GERMANY $17,000,000,000, AUSTRIA $11,000,000,000 AND GREAT BRITAIN $11,000,000,000.

TO PAY THE INTEREST ON THIS DEBT AT 4 PER CENT. WILL REQUIRE ABOUT $3,000,000,000 PER ANNUM. WHEN TO THIS IS ADDED THE MILITARY, NAVAL AND CIVIL EXPENSES OF GOVERNMENT THE TAXES WILL BE CRUSHING. THE PEOPLE CANNOT EARN ENOUGH TO PAY THEM AND SUPPLY THEMSELVES WITH THE BASIC NECESSARIES OF LIFE. BANKRUPTCY WILL BE INEVITABLE. ANARCHY WILL FOLLOW BANKRUPTCY, AND CHAOS WILL COME.

NATIONAL EGOISM.

Prof. John Bassett Moore of Harvard University has had advisory relations with the Department of State at Washington during several national administrations and his utterances on diplomatic and international matters are accorded great weight. At the recent Lake Mohonk conference he expressed his belief that "by arbitration, conciliation and joint legislation international order in due time will evolve; and this without reliance on force as the inevitable means toward the more peaceful end, since situations often arise in which the resort to forcible measures tends to provoke conflict rather than to prevent it."

Prof. Moore says that before there can be any reign of law among nations similar to that which exists within each individual state there must be regulation of the conception of nationality. "Exaggerated to the point where it either subordinates human rights to supposed national interests or regards the interests of humanity as being capable of realization only through a particular national agency there can be no doubt that this conception directly incites to the transgression of the bounds of law and justice."

England violates that part of international law which prohibits a belligerent from stopping food in transit on a neutral ship for the noncombatant population of an enemy. Germany violates that part of international law which prohibits the sinking of a ship of commerce of the enemy without first providing for the safety of the passengers and crew. Each nation denounces the practices of the other. Each—

FUNDAMENTAL AMERICAN INTERESTS

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES]

BY ROLAND G. USHER,
Author of "Pan-Germanism" "Pan-Americanism."

TO DETERMINE for what the United States must prepare we must determine what ends we are to subserve, what are the fundamental interests of this country. We shall thus determine what needs protection and what is, by its very nature, already provided for.

Our concern for the lives and property of American citizens exposed to the action of belligerents abroad during the war has tended to distract our attention from the extremely vital issues which the Pan-American conference at Washington is raising for American business men. Indeed, the present issues with Germany and England are temporary, due to causes which the termination of the war will itself remove. After the war, as now, there will be the issue of Latin America to crystallize our ideas of our relation to the rest of the world. From Latin America, in fact, is more likely to come—if it comes at all—future danger to American interests and the peril of war is more likely to emerge from that quarter than from any other.

It is well that the possibility of war should be presented in this country with incredulity. It is not wise to expect war. But neither does it seem wise to delude ourselves with the idea that we might never have a war with European countries or with South American nations. If we do clash with England and Germany over Latin America it will be very likely at the end of the war and the fundamental issue will be economic. Neither seems to have any intention of extending political dominion in South America, nor of nourishing schemes of conquest against us or Latin American states.

The two fundamental interests of the United States are the defense and maintenance of its primary economic interests and welfare. The first is not now at issue. Our independence is in no danger from Europe or from Latin America, nor would the erection of a European state in South America threaten it. Political alliances, aggressive policies, protective agencies are not needed to maintain our independence. The great object of most European policies does not exist for us. Our economic rights and privileges are the only truly fundamental objects which national policy is likely to be called upon to maintain and for which preparation may be necessary.

First and foremost stands our right to protect and insure in all just ways our economic welfare at home. Next we must place our right to extend American trade to all parts of the world in normal and legitimate ways. We must, of course, define the words "normal" and "legitimate," and no one will quarrel with a definition which declares all methods just which our compatriots as well as ourselves would recognize as fair. In last analysis it means extension of American trade by the selling of goods and by the investment of capital.

Third, stands our right to protect the life and property of American citizens in foreign countries and on the high seas. It is this right which we are invoking against Germany. We can never recognize as a nation the death of American citizens as just or endurable, except by execution for crime after due trial.

Fourth, we may place our right to freedom of trade and intercourse with the rest of the world. It is this which is now in question with England, who has interfered with our access to neutral countries as well as to belligerents. We cannot as a nation recognize the right of another nation to intervene between us and the rest of the world, to limit our approach to other countries by fleets or armies. Nor could we countenance as just such restrictions or artificial barriers as tariffs or customs agreements between other nations when made to our detriment. We may not, indeed, conclude—we should not—in all probability be wise to conclude—that such hindrances compel us to declare war upon either or both nations concerned. But though compelled to endure the situation because convinced that force would be no proper remedy, we could never admit that the situation to be right just.

These four fundamental rights, or rights as we choose to regard them, are those likely to be infringed and those, therefore, needing protection. So far as Latin America is concerned, the latter is likely to be the most important. Freedom of trade is as essential to us as it is to any other nation. We must, of course, define the words "normal" and "legitimate," and no one will quarrel with a definition which declares all methods just which our compatriots as well as ourselves would recognize as fair. The questions, in what ways these interests may be threatened, by whom, and the methods by which they may be protected, will form the subjects of subsequent editorials of this series. Unless we can clearly show that these fundamental interests are likely to be injured we shall not need to make other preparations than we have already made. When we know which of them is likely to be injured we shall at once see what preparations we must undertake. The end is the all important thing to determine. The means will always be relative to it. At the present moment we need better exchange facilities with South America. This is to be sure, a matter of detail, but one which a financial conference could not.

These four fundamental rights, or rights as we choose to regard them, are those likely to be infringed and those, therefore, needing protection. So far as Latin America is concerned, the latter is likely to be the most important. Freedom of trade is as essential to us as it is to any other nation. We must, of course, define the words "normal" and "legitimate," and no one will quarrel with a definition which declares all methods just which our compatriots as well as ourselves would recognize as fair.

Government to Contest the Point with Vigor.

Attorneys for the defense in the case of Charles A. Eider and ten associates, formerly connected with the management of the Los Angeles Investment Company on the charge of conspiracy to defraud, yesterday unsealed one of the lines of defense that will be relied upon.

The point was brought out in the cross-examination of Oscar A. Leitner, employed under the old management as a stock salesman for the company, by Attorney Valentine, and indicated that the defense will contend that the corporation could declare and pay dividends on profits derived from the advances of the company for real estate.

In other words the defense contends that a piece of real estate acquired by the company for $1000 and which at the end of the year had increased in value to $1000, although still owned by the company, was sold to the company for $500 on the basis of a year and this $500 paid out in dividends to stockholders.

Attorneys for the government will

.1. Abbott's STORY.

John D. Abbott of Denver, was one of the principal witnesses for the government yesterday. Abbott testified that he bought 1500 shares of stock for which he paid $4493 cash and still

.1. the company $22,89. He said he had received a cent in cash on stock and still owned it.

A letter received by him from the company stated that he had 1500 shares of stock in the name of Abbott and that the stock had been sold to him at $1000.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

DELIGHTFUL in every feature was the luncheon Mrs. Fred A. Wann and her daughter, Mrs. C. F. Ramsey, contributed to yesterday's social calendar in honor of Mrs. George Cosmo Morgan of San Francisco. Yellow roses and bachelor's buttons were intermingled into an effective blue and yellow floral center for the exquisite table, where covers were laid for the honoree, and Mrs. Cosmo Morgan, Jr., Mrs. Horner Laughlin, Mrs. Joseph K. Clark, Mrs. J. Ross Clark, Mrs. Frank Carlisle, Mrs. Henry Carlton Lee, Mrs. E. P. Clark, Mrs. Samuel Greener of New York, who has been wintering here, Mrs. Charles Culton Parker and the hostesses.

Musical Tea.

Mrs. Guy F. Bush and her sister, Mrs. Marjorie Pickell, are giving a garden tea and musical tea this afternoon for the cotillion of fifteen friends at their home, No. 1745 Morgan place.

Reception and Bridge.

Mrs. Marian Chatworthy of the Bryson entertained with a reception yesterday afternoon, with bridge an incident. Special guests included Miss Helen Collier, the house guest of Mrs. George K. Roemer; Mrs. N. G. Sage of Prairie du Chien, Wis., who is the house guest of the Dr. E. B. Graham of Arlington; Miss Anne O'Dea and Mrs. Downey, both of New York; Misses Hattie Remington, Mrs. C. H. Fenton and her daughter, Mrs. Carroll, who has recently come from Virginia to reside; Mrs. Robert Heath, Mrs. Earl Rogers, Mrs. Frederick Jungquist, Miss Katherine Acer, Miss Margaret Montgomery and Miss Alison Montgomery.

Miss Collier is to form the inspiration for a tea tomorrow afternoon to be given by Mrs. George L. Remington at the latter's home, No. 2822 Flower street.

On Monday evening the Misses Margaret and Alice Montgomery of Fifth avenue are to entertain with a dancing party, and Mrs. C. H. Fenton is to arrange a party for tomorrow evening.

Introductory Affair.

Mrs. John Percival Jones and Mrs. Robert Farquhar were joint hostesses at an introductory affair last night, when they socially introduced to the public Mrs. Robert de Bruce and Miss Heyman, musical artists. Miss Heyman has been engaged by Camille Saint-Saens to play his concertos at the Saint-Saens festival at San Francisco. Mr. De Bruce, a New Englander, has for ten years pursued his musical studies abroad and who has come to Southern California to remain indefinitely.

The honorees gave a musical evening. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones and Mrs. Conway Evans, who are house guests in the Jones's home, and Mrs. Hugh Livingston MacNeil, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien N. Brunswick, Mrs. James Souter Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Mason, Capt. and Mrs. Randolph Huntington Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Sartori, Mrs. William A. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Russell McDonald Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. J. J. A. van Kaathoven, Robert K. Walton, Harold Webster, Harry M. Gorham and Howard Greenley, the last named of New York.

Cupid's Floral Path.

A path of roses and maidenhair ferns softly suggesting Cupid's habitation, with the little god of love hovering beneath the pink shaded candelabra, was the unusually effective decorative motif of the supper dance which Miss Willie MacNeil of the Bryson recently complimented to Miss Mildred Power, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clyde Power of Third avenue, whose engagement to Dr. Edwin M. Spates of this city has been announced. Down the path of flowers, with Cupid hovering above, Miss Power's place as the toasts and felicitations of the guests followed with sparkling radiance.

The ballroom was pretty with pink gladioli backdrops, while palms formed a picture background.

Present were Miss Power, Miss Helen Updrage, Miss Mary Heppen, Miss Helen Swenson, Miss Dorothy Carman, Miss Ada May Forbes, Miss Laura Gysin, Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Power, Dr. Edwin M. Spates, Lieut. William E. Morris, Mrs. Earle Hunter, Jack Lambeth, Roy Taylor, J. T. Forbes, Leo B. Westcott, C. Elwood Scott and Carl Vail.

Announces Engagement.

Miss Margaret Sells of No. 5345 Ninth avenue announced her engagement Saturday afternoon to Andrew William Donovan of San Francisco, who is a delightful bridge player, which was given in advance of Miss Bush's engagement to him.

AGAINST DANCE: FOR THE BIBLE.

Wants Book Put in Schools; Terpsichore Put Out.

W.C.T.U. President Delivers Her Recommendations.

Prince Tells Why Hindu Wives are Happy.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE)

PASADENA, June 8.—Recommendations against the dance in the public schools, and for the introduction of the Bible there were contained in the annual message of Mrs. Lucy S. Blanchard of Los Angeles, the State president, to the thirty-fifth annual convention of the W.C.T.U. in session here last night. The recommendations embodying them will probably be voted on later. Mrs. Blanchard also declared strongly against smoking in public places.

She said the hope of the country does not lie in the men of the day, but in the boys and girls who are being educated along right lines.

"The young people's deeds are not being done by the older people, but by young men and women," she declared.

At the close of her address, which brought a storm of applause, she was presented with a gold seal and flowers from different W.C.T.U. chapters.

The meeting was opened with a song service by the Frances E. Willard chorus. Rev. Frank Stevens delivered the sermon for which a male quartette sang and Miss Eleanor Miller gave a reading.

While weeping, Mrs. Hester T. Griffith, vice-president of the State W.C.T.U., in her speech yesterday afternoon declared that many men had added her of not being a prohibitionist because she had voted for Eshleman. While defending herself, she almost broke down several times. She was also critical, she said, because she had not voted for all the resolutions adopted by the State prohibition convention recently held at Fresno.

It is believed by many that Mrs. Griffith will be a candidate for the presidency of the State W.C.T.U. and that those opposed to her will make her support of Mr. Eshleman, who, they say, is not a prohibitionist, an issue to swing votes to other candidates.

RAPE FRESNO ACTION.

At the close of Mrs. Griffith's address, Mr. Smart of Glendale created a sensation by asking three questions: The first was:

"Why did the Fresno convention give the liquor interests five years to get out of business? If five, why not ten, twenty, or more?"

Second: "When a burglar is in your house, would you let him take all he wants before you make him get out?"

Third: "When should we do right, now, in one month, or in ten years?"

Reporters all asked questions, and the wife of the late Mathew Slavin, father of the young girl, who was to be married today to Herbert Childs, son of Mrs. J. S. Torrance. The wedding will be solemnized at the Slavin home on North Hillside avenue, and will be exceedingly quiet, owing to the recent death of the bride-elect's father.

A bomb was hurled into the midst of the Slavin family a few days ago and the wife of the late Mathew Slavin, brought by a Mrs. Slavin, who claims a share in the $500,000 estate of the late Mr. Slavin, who she says was married to her thirty-five years ago, was married to her with three children.

Mrs. McCoy predicted that very soon it would be a common thing for women to sit on juries and that when that time came, she would do a double work for the W.C.T.U.

Mr. Eli C. Howard, who spoke on health and non-alcoholic flavors and perfumes, started some of her hearers when she declared the perfume which is so dear to "Terpsichore" is freighted with sin. A bottle of perfume is made of a very little essence of flowers and a great deal of alcohol, for which one must pay all the way from $2 to $5 an ounce.

One of the most interesting features of the day's session was the symposium held in the afternoon late, when Dr. Mabel Hughes, Rev. John H. Dr. S. W. C. Compton gave ten-minute addresses. The keynote of each was California dry in 1920. Dr. Blue declared Christian could not vote for California wet. The services will open this evening at 8 o'clock. The election hour at 8 o'clock. At 10 o'clock the election of officers will take place.

PRINCE ON WIVES.

One of the reasons why American men treat their wives better than the English, Dr. Blue said, is because the American is too occupied with business affairs to pay attention to other women. So says Prince Karamat, son of the Maharajah of Kapurthala.

The prince also avers that the American is not any too good to his wife, that she is also being attributable to too much business.

"In India," said the prince, "wives are treated with a great deal more consideration than they are here. I am told, however, that in the South men are more chivalrous and the women are more idolized."

The reason ascribed by the prince for this lack of chivalry among modern men is due to a great extent to the women themselves, because of their interest in politics and business.

He declares the place for women is in the home, where there is plenty of work to keep any woman busy.

"I believe in the higher education of women, because it makes them more interesting, more interesting and better companions. My little sister is one of the first four girls of India educated in England.

"People over here labor under the delusion that all our girls are married, when most of them are not. This does not apply to the higher classes.

"In the highest castes, the late or early marriage depends on the will of the parents. My little sister will probably not marry until she is 18, and not then unless she wishes it."

The Maharajah and his party will leave this afternoon for San Diego. Thence they go to the Grand Canyon. Later, they will return to Los Angeles, and then go to Santa Barbara before visiting the fair at San Francisco.

Citizens on the west side are determined that they will not allow Andrew Holloway to install a grand open-air hall given on the Plaza to establish a plant, were on Mr. Almon's motion, referred to Commission. Los Angeles, and the Department of public safety for report.

With a cloud of doubt hovering over her head, as a result of charges brought recently against her father's estate, by the wife of the late Mr. Almon, Mrs. Mary Sars Slavin, daughter of the late Mathew Slavin, will be married today to Herbert Childs, son of Mrs. J. S. Torrance. The wedding will be a quiet affair, owing to the recent death of the bride-elect's father.

The Slavin family a few days ago brought by a Mrs. Slavin, who claims a share in the $500,000 estate of the late Mr. Slavin, who she says was married to her thirty-five years ago, was married to her with three children.

RIVERSIDE, June 8.—Confused dispatches indicating that Nyne Oberg of this city had won the international trophy for the best oration on the subject of peace, delivered under the auspices of the Middle West Peace Society at Kansas City last Friday, were confirmed this afternoon by the arrival of young Oberg and the trophy.

PERJURY CHARGE.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

EL CENTRO, June 8.—Upon his arrival yesterday John T. Neary, of No. 517 East Fifty-third street, Los Angeles, was bound over to the Superior Court on a perjury charge by Recorder Whitelaw yesterday. In a suit over a real estate deal he swore in the previous case that he had no connection with the transaction.

The protest and also the petition of Mr. Holloway for permission to establish a plant were on Mr. Almon's motion, referred to Commission. Los Angeles, and the Department of public safety for report.

EXPOSITION PAYS A LARGER PROFIT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

SAN DIEGO, June 8.—The auditing department of the Panama-California Exposition today issued an official statement showing that the exposition made $28,361.24 on operation during May. This figure is the greatest for any month since the opening of the exposition on January 1 to May 31, inclusive. The operating profit at the exposition totals more than $74,000, according to the statement.

Each month has given a larger profit than the previous one, according to the auditor's books. In fact, the profit on operation, gate and all other receipts going into income and all sorts of expense, standing and for special events, comprise the liabilities. President G. A. Davidson predicts that the first six months of the exposition will show profit on operation of more than $150,000.

HER BUSINESS ELEEMOSYNARY.

SAYS WOMAN ATTORNEY ALONG WITH "HOT SHOTS."

Before Judge on Supplementary Proceedings in Suit Against Her to Collect Judgments Rendered She Asserts that Many Males Owe Her Money—Blames the Plaintiff.

"I could name others of your sex who owe me money," was the Parrish shot of Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, a woman lawyer, as she stepped down from the witness stand in Judge McCormick's court, in supplementary proceedings yesterday. The shot was aimed at Attorney Wilson Barrett, who had been many times accused of being unscrupulous, to say the least, bearing on Mrs. Foltz's law practice and the money owing her by clients.

J. S. Montague sued Mrs. Foltz and her son, Samuel C. Foltz, to recover judgment of $1148 obtained against her on two promissory notes given the defendant in 1908. She testified:

"Run my own business. What money I earn is my own. I keep no books except a cash book. A good many people promise to pay me.

Most of my business, I am sorry to say, is to collect debts.

Mr. Barrett was a most persistent young man. He insisted upon Mrs. Foltz giving him the names of the clients who owed her money. It was with reluctance that she complied with a few. She had not been a man she would have regarded Mr. Barrett as indicating.

A promissory note for $1000, which she had hypothecated was out of the question, but a $100 note placed with a bank for collection, will be turned over to Mr. Barrett.

A statement Mrs. Foltz was bound to give before the court was given and repeated several times. She exclaimed:

"I have been busy with my son, whose health was broken on a desert claim he got from your client," she said to Mr. Barrett.

FROM MARRIAGE TANGLE.

Mrs. Marion Straw, who tried to cut a matrimonial tangle by having her marriage to Harry Straw annulled after she had become the wife of Capt. Tyler, and was refused by Judge Meantie to have the record that there had been no fraud on the part of Mr. Straw, filed suit for divorce against No. 1 yesterday. If she succeeds in this she will probably file suit to annul her marriage with Capt. Tyler.

Mr. Straw is young and attractive. When Harry Straw crossed her orbit she said she believed he had means, but it transpired that he had empty pockets because he could not pay the marriage license fee. Because of this Mrs. Straw testified she understood the marriage was not valid. She never lived with Mr. Straw.

In the course of time she married Capt. Tyler. They did not agree.

Meantie, she learned that Mr. Straw had married and was the father of children. So she found herself with two husbands and Mr. Straw with two wives.

NEGLIGENCE CHARGED.

ANSWER NOT INVITED.

After demurrers to the $25,000 damage suit of P. J. Townsend against R. D. Sepulveda had been overruled by Judge Sneed, Reeve and Debe, a general verdict was sustained without leave to amend by Judge Taft yesterday. This clears the ground for an appeal by Attorney Graves.

Mr. Townsend was a member of the party which drove in an automobile over the city at Point Fermin, June 24, 1914. Five of the party were killed and Mr. Townsend and two friends were injured. Two of those fatally injured were the mother and sister of Mr. Townsend.

The defendant raised the question that the autoists were uninjured; that the owner of private property is not liable unless there is an invitation. The plaintiff contended that the locality was a public ground and that they were therefore invited by the owner in common with the public.

COURT CANT.

IF HUSBAND COULDN'T.

The trial of the jungle ran through the Sander divorce suit yesterday by Judge Wood and granted yesterday. Harry S. Sander, a wild-animal trainer, but, although he could subdue the beasts of the jungle, he could not compel his wife to eat out of his hand. One of the witnesses was Charles Murphy. He was training animals in the jungle when he encountered Mrs. Sander. She told him she did not intend to live with Mr. Sander. On this corroboration the court commented:

"If a trainer of wild animals cannot tame his wife, this court certainly cannot."

CHARGES CRUELTY.

TELLS OF EXPERIENCES.

Mrs. Martha B. Gallagher, young, attractive and stylishly dressed, told her story, and the spectators in the divorce court yesterday shuddered. It was the tale of a maimed couple. She testified that her husband John J. Gallagher had come to gash out her eyes with an ice pick while she was in a delicate condition; that he struck her; that he kicked her in the stomach so that she was compelled to go to a hospital. She said she was a patient at the hospital five times in eight months.

She admitted that she fought back. "I hit him anywhere I could," she said. "I only defended myself."

At the crowning item in her bill of particulars, Mrs. Gallagher exhibited the palm of her right hand, which bore the scar of a bullet wound. She said that her husband shot her.

Then Mr. Gallagher told his story. It differed materially from his wife's recital of her alleged wrongs. He said she hit him with a beer bottle; she threw a knife at him. She pulled an amateurish gun from her belt. She said that her husband shot her.

Moreover, Mr. Gallagher testified that after they had fussed she demanded redress. This took the form of money or clothing. Once she asked for $40 and he compromised on $25. Both men for a decree. Tomorrow Judge Wood will decide if either deserves it.

AUTO THIEVES.

TO SAN QUENTIN.

Even the compelling power of a woman's eyes is no justification for the theft of an automobile, according to Superior Judge Willis. Yesterday he sentenced R. C. White, an inveterate joyrider, to ten years in San Quentin for stealing an automobile and taking a woman riding. White told Judge Willis he had been hypnotized and to do just as she said. "If she told me to get an auto and take her riding, I got the auto. I couldn't do otherwise."

"Your type of men is dangerous," said Judge Willis. "The circumstances you refer to do not warrant leniency."

Two more inhabitants for San Quentin were sentenced by Judge Willis. William Jennings and Alfred Johnson, who had been convicted of stealing autos and running them until they were out of breath and gas, were sentenced to two years each.

COURT PARAGRAPH.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

SEPARATE MAINTENANCE.

A good-looking woman needs pretty clothes. When she cannot have them at least when her husband buys her only new dresses in three years, it is an additional strain.

When the hearing opened several members proposed to pass the buck to the Railroad Commission which assumes jurisdiction over rates early in the year. It was explained by President Lane of the Utility Board that the action would mean that the present rate of 65 cents for gas of inferior quality will remain in force until the city could get a hearing before the Railroad Commission while, on the other hand, if the city had been permitted the proposed lower rates to go in effect now they would stand for two or three years, anyway.

President Lowe of the Economic Gas Company favored the new rates but was opposed by representatives of the Los Angeles Gas and the Southern California Gas Company who said that while present rates were too low to suit them, they would be willing to compromise with the Railroad Commission.

The report of the City Attorney will be ready for the Council when the hearing is resumed Thursday at 9 a.m.

ELECTION RESULTS.

COUNCIL DECLARES COUNT.

Results of the municipal election were decided by the City Council yesterday in accordance with the completed figures showing the canvass completed late Monday night.

President Whiffen, who asked the City Attorney whether declaration of the results would prevent a recount has said that he had received a report from the Board of Supervisors that the paper was fixed not later than June 1, 1914. He received his contract April 27, 1914, and while it was not signed, he demanded his money back. It was refused. Judge Taft denied the paper was sold to many persons. The buyer paid down from 50 cents to $1. which the agents kept.

At the time Mr. Blair's contract was made to the present time it was shown that not more than 4000 to 5000 shares of stock had been paid for. It was also in evidence that less than $500 was in the treasury.

Mr. Rodman, whose dream this was to have a newspaper to be established through Judge Taft's courtroom yesterday during the trial of the suit of W. L. Blair against the Globe Company of Los Angeles to rescind a contract.

It was a dream of a great newspaper, and of great profits. On the splendid prospectus it looked great, but the cold logic of the court had analyzed the evidence and it was perfectly clear there was no immediate prospect, if ever, of the contract being performed.

The story as it was unfolded during the trial was that Mr. Rodman, president of the Globe Company, induced Mr. Blair through his agents to put up $200 cash and his note for $300 in exchange for which he received a contract from the company securing to him the right to control the business of the newspaper in the district, and to get advertising for which he would receive a commission.

Mr. Blair was given 1000 books, price $5, which contained merchandise coupons good at certain stores, and the various publications being offered.

Pavlova, the most famous dancer in the world, is to appear in motion pictures.

The Universal Film Company, after some weeks of negotiations, has at last secured the star for a great spectacular feature film to be put on in Chicago.

The scenario for this feature film is being written by Lois Weber, whose "Typewriter" has made such a sensation throughout the country. The nature of the story is not yet disclosed, but it is understood that it deals largely with stage life. Pavlova is to appear on the screen in the "Majestic Reliance," "The Ash Can."

She has been invited to give a short talk on "What It Means to be a Motion-picture Actress," but declines, as she says she "can only tell it on the screen."

And a little one, Anita Stewart, who is appearing in "The Goddess," serial photoplay that is running at several local theaters. At the left is Kathryn Williams of the Selig company, who is soon to star in a continuation of the well-known biblical drama "Miriam." Below is Carmen de Rue, caught in a picture-like pose in the comedy feature of the Majestic Reliance, "The Ash Can."

Finally I took my problem to one of the men, she said. "And she advised me to go to the school stage. This was very brave of her, as she, of course, had to confess and do penance for her worldly advice."

David's Little Ways.

Miss Gish says Mr. Griffith sometimes has odd little ways all his own of discovering whether people can display emotions of fear, hate, etc.

"After we had been in Mr. Griffith's company about a week," said Miss Gish, "he chased us all around the property room one day with a gun to find out just how expressive our faces were. He then showed us how to make faces, and we were just as good as he was."

David's Little Ways.

Thus the two girls went into the ninth, with the Tigers in front, 5 to 2. Things then proceeded to happen. Zeb Joe first up, singled through Berger. Joe played the pill all right, but it bugged the ground and went to the right. Berger then clobbered a single to left.

He was now thinking only of his feet. Beatty having pointed to him, he took a short time before, was taken away, and Ellis Johnson sent into the danger zone. Berger singled down the line, but he was so scientific that Johnson, who picked it up, did not throw to him. This filled the bases.

Jack Ryan was then announced as being for the Tigers. He did a good job, this machine gun flying over. Wilhoit Joe made a noble leap into the air. Zeb scored, but the other runners, thinking that Wilhoit had caught the ball, beat it back to their bases. When they finally accounted for the state of the game, they could advance and score two each. The pill went clear to the batters, and Ryan realizing this, beat it down toward second, only to find that base was occupied by Metzger. Jack tried to get him, but he was too slow. Wilhoit to Beatty to Risher.

This left two on bases, and Maggart was purposely passed. It was now Beatty's turn to bat, and he saw the possibilities.

"No guy who chooses his bat like that will buy any winter pants," volunteered an urchin who had sneaked into the press box.

Boyle Beatty had picked out one of the kind that he liked. The ball and Carlisle. It looked no bigger than a shoe button when it finally struck bottom and bounded along the fence.

Brooks, Metzger and Maggart poured over the plate, with Beatty bringing up the rear. The round-trip hit was a long one, running to the good, and looked like the game was over.

ninth, had the whey knocked out of him, while the same thing happened to Long Tom Hughes, who worked the last inning for the Angels. If ever a guy looked like he was licked it was Johnson. All that he did was to get jammed for four runs, and yet he gets credit for the victory. That's because Hughes got jammed so hard in the last half of the ninth. Long Tom gets the defeat plastered on his long and honorable record. It's pretty tough for a guy to memory with only the last inning of a ball game and get charged with the defeat. Likewise, it is pretty soft for a guy who gets a run for a stampede in the last inning and gets credit for the victory. Such is the grand old scoring system.

The Angels dragged the first reel out of the crowd in the second round. In that inning Zeb, Brooks and Metzger bunched singles. These, brought two runs. In the third, Hitt was bunched after walking Maggart. Piercy took hold and Maggart went clear from first to third when Beatty laid down a pretty sacrifice. Piercy wild-pitched. Maggart across the plate.

WONDERFUL WALTER.

The Tigers' best performance down to the last in the third, when they counted one on Piercy's walk, a single by Carlisle, an error by Wolter and a forecast. Carlisle was hitting in wonderful form, landing five singles in five trips to the plate.
